The World of Golf

“Golf in the north of Ireland – a greenish wind – a tossed moonscape, an out-of-body experience where the rules as we know them have been temporarily suspended.” Charles McGrath, New York Times

Play any of these courses and you’ll soon discover why Northern Ireland has produced so many world class golfers including David Feherty, the late, great Fred Daly, Graeme McDowell and recently joining the professional ranks, Rory McIlroy and Darren Clarke.

Northern Ireland has 95 golf courses each one offering a different challenge and setting and within one hours drive of Drenagh are 4 of the best courses in the north of Ireland.

Royal Portrush Golf Club 35 minutes drive away is the only course outside of Great Britain to have hosted The Open Championship.

Portstewart

“Portstewart Golf Course is home to what might be the world’s most underrated course. Many, including myself, feel Portstewart’s Strand Course boasts the finest opening hole and front 9 in Ireland, maybe anywhere. The panoramic views are breathtaking, particularly those of the Donegal hills.” Steve Donahue, Commonwealth Golf Magazine.

The Strand Course is indisputably the jewel in Portstewart’s crown for both quality of game and scenery. Portstewart has hosted the Irish Amateur Championship in 1960 and 1992 and held qualifying rounds of The Open in 1951 and the British Seniors in 2004.

Castlerock Golf Club

Castlerock Golf Club on the North Coast embodies all the essential charms of links golf. The Championship Mussenden Links is a 6700 yard par 73 and its fine points include a pure seaside routing, firm fast greens, and an intimacy with the landscape surrounding it. The 9 hole Bann course is set even closer to the sea and has widened the appeal of the Club. David Jones has described the par five fifth as “one of the most scenic holes in Irish golf”.

Ballycastle Golf Club

Founded in 1890, Ballycastle Golf Club is a founder member of the Golf Union of Ireland. The seaside resort of Ballycastle is situated on the Causeway Coast which is designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. The Club lies at the foot of one of the Glens of Antrim, Glenshesk, offering a challenging variety of terrain combining both parkland and links holes. The first five parkland holes are bounded by the rivers Margy and Carey and the ancient Bonamargy Abbey is situated alongside the second, third and fourth holes. The outstanding panoramic views of Glenshesk and the North Antrim Coast may force you to take your eye off the ball more often than you would like.

Ballyliffen Golf Course

Ballyliffen Golf Club, Ballyliffin, Inishowen, County Donegal, Ireland | Office +353 (0)74 9376 119 | Professional Shop + 353 (0)74 9378 100

Ballyliffen Golf Club. consists of two outstanding, contrasting links courses: The Old Links undulates in the glory of its natural terrain, presenting an immensely enjoyable challenge to every golfer. The Old Links hosted the European Seniors Tour in June 2008- The Irish Seniors Open.

The new Glashedy Links is fashioned around the incredible dunes, and is already notorious for its peat riveted bunkers and its opening three challenging par fours. The expansive panoramic views of countryside, coastline and ocean savoured by these magnificent links course will not easily be forgotten. It has hosted the Irish Inter-provincial Championships in 2006, the European Tour, North West of Ireland Open in 2002 and the Ladies European Tour, Ladies Irish Open in 1998.
